Re: 100-506/Intergroup --- Your letter of October 27, 1992

Dear Cynthia Clarke Weber:

Your letter concerning our method of "carrying this message" was shock to say the least.

It is not our purpose to create the likelihood of confusion, mistake, or deception. We are unaware that "carrying the message" is competitive.

We have researched 43(a) of the Lanham Act (15 USC 1025(a)). There appears to be a miscommunication. The laws cited appear to be cited in error.

In the spirit of avoiding controversy, we will, following the specifics of your letter, consider changing the color of the book cover, deleting acknowledgement of AAWS trademarks, and changing the name of the publisher.

Very truly yours,

Intergroup World Services, Inc.
